MILWAUKEE:

FRIDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 19.

PROCLAMATION.

In the good Providence of God another year has passed away, and his fruits have been gathered up. Toward all mankind he has been a bountiful benefactor, and his time and harvest come and goes, and, like the fat earth itself, yieldeth fruit after its kind.

The works of the Lord are great, sought out of them that have pleasure therein.

The works of the Lord are glorious, and his righteousness endureth forever.

The works of the Lord are to be remembered;

the Lord is gracious and full of compassion.

He had given me more than the few lines. He will be pleased to receive my thanks.

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom; a good understanding have I that he doth give unto his children forever.

For all his bounties and mercies, and joyful gladness and care, we thank him, and his infinite bounties.

Following a venerable and wisely inclined season, I therefore do here repeat, that next, as of a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer and Praise. And I command that day to be observed throughout the land, by all who have the power to do so, to abstain therefrom from all other avocations and employments, excepting only work of necessity.

The Honorable W. H. Vose, I have hereto subscribed my name, and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed thereto.

Done at Madison, this 21st day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

By the Governor,

ALEX. W. RANDALL.

The Next Demand of Slavery.

Those Northern Democrats, or Northern Douglassians, who entertain or encourage the belief that the actions of the Slave Power are at an end, and that henceforth the South will abandon the effort to extend the field of Slave Labor, to the prejudice of the rights, interests and dignity of Free Labor, are destined speedily to be deceived.

Already the leading organs of the South are denouncing a further concession from their Douglassian allies of the North. The Richmond Enquirer, which is just now zealous in behalf of Senator Douglas, thus specifies what the concession is to be:

Virginia sees that though the constitution recognises, and the Supreme Court sustains, the right to carry Slave to the territories, the Judge Douglass has painlessly brought to light in Illinois, that this right may be rendered null and void by the non-action of the territorial legislature. While Virginia recognises no power that can control a territorial legislature to do this, she is compelled to propose, as the only constitutional rights of slaveholders, yet she does hold that Congress has the right, and is in full force, to protect slavery in the territories until the people of a territory, when on the eve of forming a state government, may decide the question thus far left to the States.

This question of protection to slavery in the territories will have to be met, and the South will demand her constitutional rights; these rights are recognized in the constitution, inserted in the Kansas-Nebraska bill, adopted by the South, and have been sanctioned and adjudicated by the Supreme Court; and, with this array of authority, the South will demand the legislation necessary to render valid the rights so recently recognized by the party, the country, the Congress, the Supreme Court, and the constitution.

This new and startling demand, though a legitimate deduction from the Cincinnati Platform, the Dred Scott decision and President Buchanan's doctrine and practice, will take the North by surprise. It is truly this—that while Congress cannot interfere to prevent slavery in the territories, it must interfere to protect it there. Of course, under such a construction of the Constitution and the Federal legislation which is demanded, in order to make it efficient, the South can force slavery upon every inch of territory belonging to the United States. We shall not have a foot of Free Soil left.

Whether the Democracy of the North are yet prepared to take this additional step backward, we cannot say. But that they will do it, by their representatives in the next National Democratic Convention, is a foregone conclusion. The South demands it, and the Democracy of the North, hopeless and helpless without the South, will yield to the demand.

New York Election—Official.—The New Tribune of Monday has official returns of the votes cast in all the counties that State at the late election. The total vote for Governor is distributed thus:

Morgan, Rep., 247,828 Parker, Dem., 180,841 Burrows, Am., 60,978 G. Smith, A., 2,063 Morgan over Parker, 17,487

The State canvas can vary this, but a few voices. All the candidates except Mr. Morgan, on the Republican State ticket have fully 20,000 majority—Gerrit Smith having taken votes from Morgan which were cast for all the other Republican candidates.

The aggregate vote is unexpectedly large—$44,768. Last year, it was but 425,768. Increase, 104,991, or nearly 20 per cent. Very naturally, the Republican minority of 18,057 last year is converted into a Republican majority of nearly equal amount this year.

Mr. Giddens at Fr. Louis.—The St. Louis Democrat of last Tuesday, says, "This distinguished gentleman lectured last evening to an over-flowing house, upon the subject of "The laws which govern us." Mr. Giddens spoke for an hour and eight minutes to an attentive audience, frequently interrupted by hearty demonstrations of applause. Only once during the evening was there the least expression of dissatisfaction—and Mr. Giddens was radical in his remarks—but the lecture denounced the Dred Scott Decision, and then much cheering and stamping and clapping of hands drowned the noise of the few persons who hissed, until the latter, ashamed of themselves, relapsed into silence, and Mr. Giddens pursued his theme."

FIFTEEN MILE RACE.—Thursday afternoon last, a fifteen mile foot race was run at Chelsea, Mass., by Louis Bennett, of the Ossipee tribe, Abner Smith of the Tocumwalas, and two white men. Both the latter gave out, one on the first, and the other on the fifth mile. There was a sharp run between the Indians, but Smith lagged on the sixteenth mile when Bennett passed him, making fifteen miles in one hour twenty-nine minutes and fifty seconds.

A PART REPLY.—A office holder in Illinois challenged a colored barber, who came up to vote, and asked him, "and if I was in?" "Yes, sir," replied the barber, "and if I was in?" "St. Louis I should be worth seven hundred dollars!" The witty retort of the "hailed gentleman" created a roar of laughter among the bystanders.

LAWYER OF GROTON.—D. Parsons.—The Springfield Daily Union yesterday says: "We received a telegram from Mr. Parsons last evening, dated at Louisville on the 12th, in which he requests us to state, that owing to indisposition he will be unable to fulfil his appointment to lecture this day on Fr. 19. He says, 'I am ill.' This will be postponed until February next. This will be great disappointment to his hosts of friends in this state." We learn from another source that Mr. Parsons is suffering under a severe attack of croupier.
